

Gift Guide

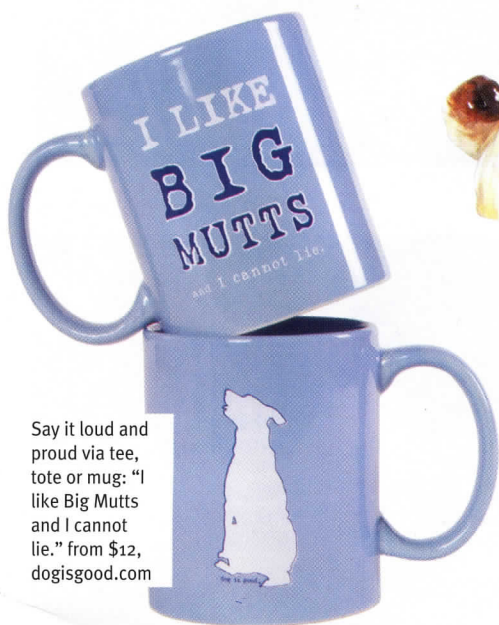

Al Capone might have originated from Chicago, but this European-woven cushion cover is all Boston. $55, artsydog.com

With Mid-century Modern reminiscent lines and adjustable levels to match growth spurts or stiff joints, the Doggy Dining Tray VI has you covered from puppyhood to the golden years. $50, richellusa.com

Created in 1898, Lampe Berge air purifiers have a long, storied history. Famous devotees have included Pablo Picasso. A perfect marriage of form and function, these glass lamps destroy uncouth odours like wet dog before emitting delightful fragrance imparted by scented oils. from $44, lampeberger.ca

The Homebody

Say it loud and proud via tee, tote or mug: "I like Big Mutts and I cannot lie." from $12, dogisgood.com

Dress the dinner table with a set of these adorable, handcrafted, hand painted canine salt and pepper shakers, available in a wide and utterly charming variety of breeds. $39, bluewitchceramics.com

Keep those tootsies warm and cozy while proclaiming your love of whichever breed holds your heart. From $9, dogbreedstore.com

The perfect hostess gift? A bottle of BC's See Ya Later Ranch wine. This winery, which was named for its charming dog-related back story, produces award-winning sippers. From $16, sylranch.com

Topping most dogs' wish lists? Heated floors. (Okay, we confess, it tops our list, too.) Your dog's dream home has Nuheat's electric floor heating system. Need a further bonus beyond comfort, energy efficiency, and easy installation? With a warm floor, you might actually be able to keep your pup off the new couch. nuheat.com

Big Shrimpy beds deliver heavy duty creature comforts. Their super comfy faux suede nest beds are entirely washable and come with a three year warranty. Need further goodness? They're made of 74 percent recycled materials. Sweet dreams. From $120, bigshrimpy.com